Expectations

Student Code of Conduct

Expectations include students abiding by a code of conduct. This means avoiding behaviors that a reasonable person would view as substantially or repeatedly interfering with the conduct of a class. Such behavior includes, but is not limited to, harassment and violations of netiquette standards. Students are responsible to comply with an instructor's individual requests regarding appropriate course behavior as listed in the class syllabus.

Academic Integrity

Personal integrity is a goal that Harcum fosters. Students should be guided by the fundamental ideals of honor and integrity in the personal conduct of their lives. The Harcum degree represents not only the fulfillment of academic requirements but also the development of character and personal conduct.

A student who is dishonest in any assignment, test, or examination, receives a grade of "F," and the incident is reported to the Vice President of Academic Affairs. The penalties for such violations are cumulative. A second violation will result in failure of the course; the third, expulsion from the college.

Accommodations

If you are a student with a documented disability needing accommodations, please contact the Office of Disability Services at 610-526-6036, or disabilityservices@harcum.edu. Staff offices and testing room are located in the lower level of the Academic Center, Suite B6, within the Bryn Mawr campus. Disability Services staff can also meet one on one with students electronically or via Zoom. While requests for disability services may be made at any time, students are strongly encouraged to submit requests as early in the semester as possible. Doing so will facilitate the timely provision of accommodations approved by the Office of Disability Services.

Lab practical exams in a lab setting with the lab instructor are considered an essential function of the course or program and may not be able to be modified.
